The Roman Missal: Side-by-Side Comparison

The Second Vatican Council called for revision of the prayer book or Sacramentary (the Roman Missal) used by the priest (and the congregation) at Mass. Since this Sacramentary would now be available in the vernacular, a group of liturgical experts, commonly referred to as ICEL (International Commission on English in the Liturgy) was formed and charged with the task of translation from Latin into English. As of 1969, “dynamic equivalence” became the guiding principle of translation: putting the essence of each phrase into clear, intelligible words of “noble simplicity.” ICEL diligently set to work, mindful, as well, of the Council’s call to the “full, conscious, and active participation” of the people, by virtue of our Baptism. And in 1973 their first English translation was promulgated from Rome, having been approved by all the conferences of English-speaking bishops.

Although they had worked faithfully and well, it soon became apparent that a more polished version would be necessary. After fifteen years of dedicated and collaborative labor, from 1982 to 1997, the second translation was sent to all conferences of English-speaking bishops. It was approved by all within a year and then sent on to Rome. But Rome said no… and changed the rules of translation (in Liturgiam Authenticam of 2001). No longer “dynamic equivalence,” the rule was now “formal equivalence,” a nearly word for word translation of the Latin, according to the Latin sentence structure. The result is the current version, mandated to be introduced on November 27, 2011, the First Sunday of Advent. Following are some Side-by-Side Comparisons. Which prayers, in your estimation, best plumb the depths of our faith? Which prayers best reflect the teaching of the Canadian and United States bishops on inclusive language? (Recall that in 1989 and 1990, respectively, they had advocated for the use of “horizontal” inclusive language - on the human level - in line with the contemporary use of the English language.) Which speak to your heart? You be the judge.

It must be noted that this comparison is offered for educational purposes and for your prayerful consideration. The 1998 version is copyrighted 1997, International Committee on English in the Liturgy, Inc. All rights reserved. If you wish to download the entire document click here.

The Nicene Creed

We believe in one God, the Father, the Almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all that is seen and unseen.
We believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ,
I believe in one God, the Father Almighty maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible. I believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ the only Son of God, eternally begotten of the Father, God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten not made, one in being with the Father. Through him all things were made. For us [men] and for our salvation he came down from heaven: by the power of the Holy Spirit he was born of the Virgin Mary, and became man. For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate; he suffered, died, and was buried. On the third day he rose again in fulfillment of the Scriptures; He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead, and his kingdom will have no end.

We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son. With the Father and the Son He is worshiped and glorified. He has spoken through the prophets. We believe in one holy catholic and apostolic Church. We acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins. We look for the resurrection of the dead, the life of the world to come. Amen.

Priest: Let us proclaim the mystery of faith:
People: Lord, by your cross and resurrection
      you have set us free.

Father, we celebrate the memory of Christ,
your Son.
We, your people and your ministers,

and his ascension into glory;
and from the many gifts you have given us
we offer to you, God of glory and majesty,
this holy and perfect sacrifice:
the bread of life
and the cup of eternal salvation.

Until Jesus, our Saviour, comes again,
we proclaim the work of your love,
offering you the bread of life and the cup of blessing.

Look with favor on these offerings and accept them as once you accepted
the gifts of your servant Abel,
the sacrifice of Abraham, our father in faith,
and the bread and wine
offered by your priest Melchisedech.

Look with favour on the offering of your Church in which we show forth the paschal sacrifice of Christ
that was handed on to us.
Through the power of your Spirit of love

Part Two: Prayers Prayed by the Priest.

You will note many more changes here. Please be aware, as in the previous section (Part One: dialogue and responses of the people), of inclusive/exclusive language. Recall that the Canadian and U.S. bishops each issued a letter advocating for the use of horizontal inclusive language (on the human level), in 1989 and 1990, respectively. Also, continue to be aware of “noble simplicity” of language, as called for by the Second Vatican Council, along with clear, poetic expression of our Tradition.

Collect, First Sunday of Advent

1973
Let us pray…
[that we may take Christ’s coming seriously]
All-powerful God, increase our strength of will for doing good that Christ may find an eager welcome at his coming and call us to his side in the kingdom of heaven,
where he lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God, for ever and ever.

1998
Let us pray…
Almighty God,
strengthen the resolve of your faithful people to prepare for the coming of your Christ
by works of justice and mercy,
so that when we go forth to meet him
he may call us to sit at his right hand and possess the kingdom of heaven.

Let us pray…
Grant your faithful, we pray,
almighty God,
the resolve to run forth
to meet your Christ
with righteous deeds at his coming,
so that, gathered at his right hand,
they may be worthy to possess
the heavenly kingdom.

(Right are also collects for each cycle;
the following is from Cycle B.)
Rend the heavens and come down,
O God of all the ages!
Rouse us from sleep,

deliver us from our heedless ways,
and form us into a watchful people,
that, at the advent of your Son,
he may find us doing what is right,
mindful of all you command.

Grant this through him whose coming is certain,
whose day draws near:
your Son, our Lord Jesus Christ,
who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God for ever and ever.

Prayer Over the Offerings, First Sunday of Advent

1973
Pray, brethren…
Father,
from all you give us
we present this bread and wine.

As we serve you now,
accept our offering
and sustain us with your promise of eternal life.
Grant this through Christ our Lord.

1998
Accept, Lord, our offerings,
chosen from among your many gifts,
and let this present expression of our reverence become for us the pledge of eternal redemption.

We ask this through Jesus Christ our Lord.

2011
Accept, we pray, O Lord,
these offerings we make,
gathered from among your gifts to us,
and may what you grant us to celebrate devoutly here below,
gain for us the prize of eternal redemption.

Through Christ our Lord.

Prayer after Communion, First Sunday of Advent

Let us pray.

1973
Father,
may our communion
teach us to love heaven.
May its promise and hope
guide our way on earth.
We ask this through Christ our Lord.

1998
Lord our God,
grant that in our journey through this passing world
we may learn from these mysteries to cherish even now the things of heaven and to cling to the treasures that never pass away.

We ask this in the name of Jesus, the Lord.

2011
May these mysteries, O Lord,
in which we have participated,
profit us, we pray,
for even now,
as we walk among passing things,
you teach us by them to love the things of heaven, and hold fast to what endures.
Through Christ our Lord.

Note the length of the sentences in the 2011 version; such longer sentences are common in this version.
Preface II of Lent

1973
Father, all powerful and ever-living God,
We do well always and everywhere
to give you thanks.

This great season of grace
is your gift to your family
to renew us in spirit.

You give us strength
to purify our hearts,
to control our desires,
and so to serve you in freedom.
You teach us how to live
in this passing world
with our heart set on the world
that will never end.
Now, with all the angels and saints,
we praise you forever:

1998
It is truly right and just,
our duty and our salvation,
always and everywhere
to give you thanks,
only Father,
almighty and eternal God.

You set aside this season of grace
for your people,
to renew and purify their hearts,
so that, freed from all harmful desires,
they may live in this passing world
with hearts set on the world
that will never end.

2011
It is truly right and just,
our duty and our salvation,
always and everywhere
to give you thanks,
Lord, holy Father,
almighty and eternal God.

For you have given your children
a sacred time for the renewing and purifying of their hearts,
that, freed from disordered affections,
they may so deal with the things of this passing world as to hold rather to the things that eternally endure.

Now, with all the saints and angels,
we praise your glory without end:

And so, with all the Angels
and Saints, we praise…

Consecration Narrative, Eucharistic Prayer I

The day before he suffered
he took bread in his sacred hands
and looking up to heaven,
to you, his almighty Father,
he gave you thanks and praise.
He broke the bread,
gave it to his disciples, and said:

Take this, all of you, and eat it:
this is my body
which will be given up for you.

When supper was ended, he took the cup. Again he gave you thanks and praise, gave the cup to his disciples, and said:

take this all of you, and drink from it: this is the cup of my blood, the blood of the new and everlasting covenant. It will be shed for you and for all so that sins may be forgiven. Do this in memory of me.

In a similar way, when supper was ended, he took this precious chalice in his holy and venerable hands, and once more giving you thanks, he said the blessing, and gave the chalice to his disciples, saying:

TAKE THIS, ALL OF YOU, AND DRINK FROM IT: THIS IS THE CUP OF MY BLOOD, THE BLOOD OF THE NEW AND EVERLASTING COVENANT. IT WILL BE SHED FOR YOU AND FOR ALL SO THAT SINS MAY BE FORGIVEN. DO THIS IN MEMORY OF ME. (This only differs in punctuation and capitalization.)

Eucharistic Prayer II Intercessions

1973
In memory of his death and resurrection, we offer you, Father, this life-giving bread, this saving cup. We thank you for counting us worthy to stand in your presence and serve you. May all of us who share in the body and blood of Christ be brought together in unity by the Holy Spirit.

1998
Remembering therefore his death and resurrection, we offer you, Lord God, this life-giving bread, this saving cup. We thank you for counting us worthy to stand in your presence and serve you.

2011
Therefore, as we celebrate the memorial of his Death and Resurrection, we offer you, Lord, the Bread of life and the chalice of salvation, giving thanks that you have held us worthy to be in your presence and minister to you.

Humbly we pray that, partaking of the Body and Blood of Christ, we may be gathered into one by the Holy Spirit.
make us grow in love, together with N. our Pope, N. our bishop, and all the clergy. perfect us in love together with N. our Pope and N. our Bishop, with all bishops, priests, and deacons, and all who minister to your people.

Remember our brothers and sisters who have gone to their rest in the hope of rising again; bring them and all the departed into the light of your presence. Have mercy on us all; make us worthy to share eternal life with Mary, the virgin Mother of God, with the apostles, and with all the saints who have done your will throughout the ages.

Remember our brothers and sisters who have gone to their rest in the sure hope of rising again; bring them and all who have died in your mercy into the light of your presence.

Have mercy on us all; make us worthy to share eternal life, with Mary, the virgin Mother of God, with the apostles and with all the saints, who have found favour with you throughout the ages; in union with them

May we praise you in union with them, and give you glory.

Have mercy on us all, we pray, that with the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of God, and all the Saints who have pleased you throughout the ages, we may merit to be coheirs to eternal life, and may praise and glorify you through your Son, Jesus Christ.

Please be aware that the Latin verb “astare” in the first section means “to stand.” The 1973 and 1998 versions have translated it correctly, “to stand in your presence.” The 2011 version has altered the translation because of a new emphasis on kneeling.

Preface VIII for Sundays in Ordinary Time

Dialogue, then...
Father, all-powerful and ever living-God, We do well always and everywhere to give you thanks.

1998
It is truly right and just, our duty and our salvation, always and everywhere to give you thanks, holy Father, almighty and eternal God.

When sin had scattered your children afar, For when your children were scattered... and wandered far from your friendship, you reunited them with yourself through the blood of your Son and the power of the Holy Spirit. You gathered them back to yourself afar by sin, through the blood of your Son and the power of the Spirit, you reunited them with yourself through the blood of your Son and the power of the Holy Spirit.

You gathered them into your Church, to be one as you, Father, are one with your Son and the Holy Spirit. You call them to be your people, to praise your wisdom in all your works. You make them the body of Christ and the dwelling-place of the Holy Spirit. You gather them into your Church, to be one as you, Father, are one with your Son and the Holy Spirit. You call them to be your people, to praise your wisdom in all your works. You make them the body of Christ and the dwelling-place of the Holy Spirit. Total of 64 unclear words.

Collect Following the Isaiah 54 Reading at the Easter Vigil

1973

Let us pray.

Almighty and eternal God, glorify your name by increasing your chosen people as you promised long ago. In reward for their trust, may we see in the Church the fulfillment of your promise.

We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Let us pray.

Almighty and eternal God, for the glory of your name fulfill the promise you made long ago to men and women of faith, to bless them with descendants for ever. Increase your adopted children throughout the world, that your Church may see accomplished the salvation which those saints of old so firmly expected.

We ask this through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Let us pray.

Almighty, ever-living God, surpass for the honor of your name what you pledged to the patriarchs by reason of their faith and through sacred adoption increase the children of your promise so that what the saints of old never doubted would come to pass your Church may now see in great part fulfilled.*

All-holy and eternal God, you have given us this feast to celebrate on one day the holy men and women of every time and place. Through their manifold intercession grant us the full measure of your mercy, for which we so deeply long. We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ…

Alternative:
God, our Father, source of all holiness, the work of your hands is manifest in your saints, the beauty of your truth is reflected in their faith.

May we who aspire to have part in their joy be filled with the Spirit that blessed their lives, so that having shared their faith on earth we may also know their peace in your kingdom. Grant this through Christ our Lord.

Alternative:
All-holy God, you call your people to holiness. As we keep the festival of your saints, give us their meekness and poverty of spirit, a thirst for righteousness, and purity of heart. May we share with them the richness of your kingdom and be clothed in the glory you bestow.

Grant this through our Lord Jesus Christ…

Let us pray…
 Almighty ever-living God, by whose gift we venerate in one celebration the merits of all the Saints, bestow on us, we pray, through the prayers of so many intercessors, an abundance of the reconciliation with you for which we earnestly long. Through our Lord Jesus Christ…

The Exsultet (Hymn of Praise to the Light of Christ at the Easter Vigil), 2011 Version

Exult, let them exult, the hosts of heaven, exult, let Angel ministers of God exult, let the trumpet of salvation sound aloud our mighty King’s triumph!
Be glad, let earth be glad, as glory floods her,
ablaze with light from her eternal King,
let all corners of the earth be glad,
knowing an end to gloom and darkness.
Rejoice, let Mother Church also rejoice,
arrayed with the lightning of his glory,
let this holy building shake with joy,
filled with the mighty voices of the peoples.
(Therefore, dearest friends,
standing in the awesome glory of this holy light,
vinvoke with me, I ask you,
the mercy of God almighty,
that he, who has been pleased to number me,
though unworthy, among the Levites,
may pour into me his light unshadowed,
that I may sing this candle’s perfect praises).

(V. The Lord be with you.
R. And with your spirit.)

V. Lift up your hearts.
R. We lift them up to the Lord.

V. Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.
R. It is right and just.

It is truly right and just,
with ardent love of mind and heart
and with devoted service of our voice,
to acclaim our God invisible, the almighty Father,
and Jesus Christ, our Lord, his Son, his Only Begotten.

Who for our sake paid Adam’s debt to the eternal Father,
and, pouring out his own dear Blood,
wiped clean the record of our ancient sinfulness.
These, then, are the feasts of Passover,
in which is slain the Lamb, the one true Lamb,
whose Blood anoints the doorposts of believers.

This is the night,
when once you led our forebears, Israel’s children,
from slavery in Egypt
and made them pass dry-shod through the Red Sea.

This is the night
that with a pillar of fire banished the darkness of sin.

This is the night
that even now, throughout the world,
sets Christian believers apart from world vices
and from the gloom of sin,
leading them to grace
and joining them to his holy ones.

This is the night,
when Christ broke the prison-bars of death
and rose victorious from the underworld.

Our birth would have been no gain,
had we not been redeemed.
O wonder of your humble care for us!
O love, O charity beyond all telling,
to ransom a slave you gave away your Son!

O truly necessary sin of Adam, destroyed completely by the Death of Christ!

O happy fault
that earned so great, so glorious a Redeemer!

O truly blessed night,
worthy alone to know the time and hour
when Christ rose from the underworld!

This is the night
of which it is written:
The night shall be bright as day,
dazzling is the night for me,
and full of gladness.

The sanctifying power of this night
dispels wickedness, washes faults away,
restores innocence to the fallen, and joy to mourners,
drives out hatred, fosters concord, and brings down the mighty.

On this, your night of grace, O holy Father, accept this candle, a solemn offering,
the work of bees and of your servants’ hands,
an evening sacrifice of praise,
this gift from your most holy Church.

But now we know the praises of this pillar,
which glowing fire ignites for God’s honor,
a fire into many flames divided,
yet never dimmed by sharing of its light,
for it is fed by melting wax,
drawn out by mother bees
to build a torch so precious.

O truly blessed night,
when things of heaven are wed to those of earth,
and divine to the human.
Therefore, O Lord,
we pray you that this candle,
hallowed to the honor of your name,
may persevere undimmed,
to overcome the darkness of this night.
Receive it as a pleasing fragrance,
and let it mingle with the lights of heaven.
May this flame be found still burning
by the Morning Star:
the one Morning Star who never sets,
Christ you Son,
who, coming back from death’s domain,
has shed his peaceful light on humanity,
and lives and reigns for ever and ever.
R. Amen.

The Exsultet, 1998 Version

I recognize that I have asked each person to decide the value of these prayers for themselves. However, at this point I must add a personal note. One of the recognized liturgists of our day, Rita Ferrone, has said this about the 2011 version: “It doesn’t sing.” (See her article by this title in the July 15th issue of Commonweal.) And, as we know, liturgy must sing! It must be able to be set to music, so that the full scope of the human condition in relationship to God and to one another can be proclaimed. As I was reading over the 2011 version of the “Gloria,” I kept asking myself: how on earth can this be sung? So it is, then, that I submit to you another prayer which is always meant to be sung, the “Exsultet.” From the first, when I read the 1998 version, I was moved to tears. I must share this with you, so that you will see what we will be missing. Is this a prayer you want deleted from our treasury of worship?

The minister (a priest or deacon) begins.
Exult and sing, O shining angel choirs!
Exult and dance, bright starts and blazing suns!
The firstborn of creation, Jesus Christ,
is ris’n in radiant splendour from the dead!

Rejoice, O awesome night of our rebirth!
Rejoice, O mother moon, that marks the months!
For from your fullness comes, at last, the Day
when sin is robbed of pow’r and death is slain!

Awaken, earth! Awaken, air and fire!
O children born of clay and water, come!
The One who made you rises like the sun
to scatter night and wipe your tears away.

Arise then, sleepers, Christ enlightens you!
Arise from doubt and sadness, sin and death.
With joyful hearts and spirit set afire
draw near to sing this Easter candle’s praise!

The minister: The Lord be with you.
The people: And also with you.
The minister: Lift up your hearts.
The people: We lift them up to the Lord.
The minister: Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.
The people: It is right to give our thanks and praise.

The minister:
We praise you, God, for all your works of light!
We bless you for that burst of fire and flame through which you first created all that is:
a living universe of soaring stars,
of space and spinning planets, surging seas
that cradle earth and rock against her breast.

The people:
We praise you, God of everlasting light!
The minister:
We praise you for light’s beauty, motion, speed:
for eastern light that paints the morning sky;
for western light that slants upon our doors,
inviting us to praise you ev’ry night.

The people:
We praise you, God of everlasting light!

The minister:
We bless you for the light invisible:
the fire of faith, the Spirit’s grace and truth,
the light that bonds the atom, stirs the heart,
and shines for ever on the face of Christ!

The people:
We praise you, God of everlasting light!

The minister:
Creator, in the joy of Easter eve,
accept our off’ring of this candle’s light:
may all who see its glow and feel its warmth
be led to know your nature and your Name.

The people:
We praise you, God of everlasting light!

The minister:
For, Father, it was your own light and love
that led your people Israel dry-shod through foaming seas and brought them safe at last to lands of milk and honey. In your love you led them as a shining cloud by day and as a flaming shaft of fire by night.
This is the night, most blessed of all nights,
when first you rescued people from the sea:
a sign of that new birth which was to come in blood and water flowing from Christ’s side!

The people:
Now is Christ risen! We are raised with him!

The minister:
This is the night, most blessed of all nights,
when your creating Spirit stirred again
to turn back chaos and renew the world,
redeeming it from hatred, sin, and strife!

The people:
Now is Christ risen! We are raised with him!

The minister:
This is the night, most blessed of all nights,
when all the powers of heaven and earth were wed
and every hungry human heart was fed by Christ our Lamb’s own precious flesh and blood!

The people:
Now is Christ risen! We are raised with him!

The minister:
O night, more holy than all other nights,
your watchful eyes beheld, in wondrous awe,
the triumph of our Saviour over sin,
the rising of the Deathless One from death!

The people:
Now is Christ risen! We are raised with him!

The minister:
O night that gave us back what we had lost!
O night that made our sin a happy fault!
Beyond our deepest dreams this night, O God,
your hand reached out to raise us up in Christ.

The people:
Now is Christ risen! We are raised with him!

The minister:
O night of endless wonder, night of bliss,
when every living creature held its breath
as Christ robbed death and harrowed hopeless hell, restoring life to all those in the tomb!

The people:
Now is Christ risen! We are raised with him!

The minister:
And so, our God, Creator of all life,
with open hearts and hands we come to you:
anointed with the Spirit’s pow’r, we bear
these precious, glowing gifts of fire and flame.

We pray that when our night of watching ends,
the Morning Star who dawns and never sets,
our Saviour Jesus Christ, may find us all united in one faith, one hope, one Lord.

For you, O Lord, are God, living and true:
all glory, praise and pow’r belong to you with Jesus Christ, the One who conquered death, and with the Spirit blest for evermore.

The people: Amen!
Now this hymn of praise sings! Joyfully, with exultation, gratitude and praise! As Peter Jeffery, a chant historian and professor at Princeton University said- in criticism of Liturgiam Authenticam (the root of the 2011 Missal): “Why would we settle for the thorns when our Tradition is filled with roses?” And, this hymn commands the “full, conscious, and active participation” of the people.

So, dear people, we must sing our song. We must speak up. And keep on speaking up, for the love of the Church.
